Barrel of "Whisky" In Cornersione Only Papers

Comersione Only Papers Belling, Terms Sept. 12.—A pertestly good legend, told and recold for torty years, came to a and ending tors with the rading of an old belliding in the business section.

The legend said a harrel of whisky was placed inside the hollowed-out outnerstone when it was laid.

When the building was condemned recently by the authorities and ordened torn down, interest among old timers reached fever heat. It was not necessary to employ a housewrecking commen for the job; more dilatest voluntured than easied be accommodated with work.

A crowd gathered while half a deap of the volunteiers leasuned the stone with the served and brighters while a barrel was rolled out and a workman tore away the bead of the harry underploved inside. His expression changed from one of expectation to disquet as he drapped forth—not whisky, but a huge pareal of documents.
